

AUSTRALIA NOW

Laurence Smart

2-10-2016

(www.CanberraForerunners.org)

COMMENT SEPTEMBER 6 2016

New human rights legal centre not so keen on human rights

Duncan Fine

As a human rights lawyer, my initial reaction to the establishment of a new human rights law centre – the Human Rights Law Alliance – this week was to get to my feet and applaud.

But after digging a little deeper I quickly resumed my seat and the applause got rather muted. Because in my view we now have a bunch of human rights activists who are actually engaged in a full-on assault against human rights.

HUFFPOST AUSTRALIA

Listen Out 2016: Over 100

...

Jacob Hall, 6, Dies After South ...

NEWS | POLICY / GOVERNMENT

Nearly Half of Australians Back Hanson's Muslim Immigration Ban

Thursday, 22nd September 2016

Nearly half of Australians want to ban Muslim immigration, according to a new poll.

Laura McNally

September 27, 2016 12:00am

Safe Schools needs to change. If not, it must go

Australia has spoken, time and time again — Safe Schools needs to change, or go. It cannot continue to be implemented in its current form.

Courtesy: AAP Video/Georgie Moore

Cory Bernadi's office trashed

Most Liked Comments

Phil

47 likes

The Safe Schools Program is nothing short of gay propaganda and brain washing aimed at pushing the gay agenda onto vulnerable and easily impressionable children. Anti-bullying is one thing, but pushing a radical 'gender fluid' ideology is something totally abhorrent to most parents. This program has no place in schools where the literacy and numeracy standards continue to slip due to a curriculum jammed packed with ideologically driven subject matter, much of it drivel with no scientific basis. Parents, not leftists Gov'ts and radical teacher's unions, should be able to determine whether their children are fed this rubbish dressed up as a 'anti bullying program' in the same way they can opt out of lessons in Religious dogma.

COPYRIGHT

All quotes are copyrighted to the authors credited.

This document is free to copy, republish and distribute, but only 'as is'.

All Canberra Forerunner documents are licensed under

Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 Unported License