

Birth of the Man-Child

By Clay Sikes

[OpenHeaven.com Digest March 13, 2015]

The struggles of an overcoming son, his bloody birth into the Kingdom are all designed with divine steps. This cost for this apprenticeship is measured in years and immeasurable pain – one defeat after another, chaos, betrayal, theft, false accusation, rejection, loneliness, and tears – all necessary ingredients for 'mature' sons.

The man-child is manifesting, as kindred spirits are awakened to the hour of connection and purpose. As new born mature sons, we feel our way about this world, called to reveal heaven to earth: Heaven's ambassadors demonstrating "the Kingdom on earth as it is in heaven".

Sons and daughters are emerging from under the rocks of the wilderness where they have been hidden. There is an immediate recognition among mature sons, as they begin connecting for purpose – an Army awaiting the next step.

Grounded by peace amid circumstance, filled with faith from having heard God, these carriers boast nothing except Christ, and Him crucified.
