

The Greatest Release of Wealth

By Lisa Enebeli

[OpenHeaven.com Digest September 18, 2014]

We are about to enter the greatest release of wealth in the history of the church, however, it is going to be placed into the hands of those who have proven to be good stewards of money.

God is not giving us wealth to fly private jets, living in houses that are beyond what we can handle or drive cars that show we are prosperous. The wealth God is about to pour out is for the advancing the kingdom of God on earth, for building people's lives through ministries that are doing the work.

Money is not for building empires, palaces, or more comfortable lifestyles that show we are rich. It is time to really examine your heart, the season for flaunting wealth has passed and God is giving money into the hands of those who will distribute it to those in need, not to spend it on themselves.

You will have more than enough for yourself, but the 90-10 rule will apply. 90% for advancing the kingdom, 10% for your lifestyle. This applies to churches, ministries and people alike. This is a kingdom principle.
