

The Kingdom Reaping and Sowing Principle

We sow and reap in the following ways:

- Life
- Death
- Righteousness
- Unrighteousness
- Financially

If we sow in any of these ways, we reap a concomitant result in the same area.

On the 26-5-2014 Jesus gave me the following message as part of his instructions to me:

“Have I not taught you reaping and sowing? Sowing brings reaping. What you sow is what you reap. There are consequences for everything. Don’t baulk at this – don’t let it be a byword to you. It is important – it is essential...Remember reaping and sowing, on the minor scale and a major scale. Just as nations are now reaping what they have sown, in your life and in the lives of individuals, reaping is what’s happening. Sow wisely so you can reap wisely – Kingdom wisely. Otherwise, it’s to your detriment...We don’t need everybody to reap for the Kingdom, but it is for their benefit that they reap of the Kingdom. I’m giving them opportunity, in the same way I give you opportunity.”

We need to come to an understanding that we must also sow in the Kingdom. We do this in everything we do for the Kingdom, not just financially. Financially is the usual way this is portrayed, but this is a very limited understanding of the Kingdom principle of sowing & reaping. The reason? Sowing & reaping has been treated as a church principle and churches need funds to pay for the salaries of the professionals and to maintain the system.

Kingdom sowing is effective only when we are led by the Spirit. It’s not effective if we just do our ‘Christian duty’ or ‘work for God’. These two have their origins in the natural, in our wills, and it will only reap natural outcomes. When led by the Spirit, the rewards are Kingdom rewards or outcomes, because we are actually doing what Heaven wants for the sake of the Kingdom on Earth.

Some of the Kingdom rewards are also eternal rewards. So, if you want everlasting rewards that aren’t burnt up by the ‘fire’ of God, then learn to sow in the Kingdom.
