

Message: Canberra 4-4-2016

On the 4th April 2016 CCOP asked the Lord the following question to get his counsel: “Lord, do you have a message for Canberra today? Something you'd like to be disbursed to the people of Canberra?”

This was his response, transcribed from a smart phone recording:

“Yes I do, and it's nice that you ask. I've been waiting for you to ask again, and here is my reply.

Canberra is heading down the wrong track. Canberra is heading in the way of the world, and the way of the world will terminate shortly. Canberra needs to get back to its roots to be a meeting place, a place of government, a place of rulership. This is Canberra's destiny, and it has to be genuine apostolic, proper leadership that comes from this city – not the games and childish behaviour that I see. Not the bravado that comes from the politicians as they step out and move forward in things that make them feel like they are at the cutting edge, leading the world. They are so blind they've got no idea they are heading down a dark path.

Canberra, turn to the light. Your politicians need to seek me and seek my wisdom. They need to seek my prophets to hear what I am saying, what's on my mind and what's on my heart for this nation and for this city. My people, I want you to speak to the politicians and advise them vehemently to listen to me, to turn their hearts towards me. To implement my plans in this city.

It is important that my Kingdom has a seat here in this city because this is the seat of government and this is where my seat is to be, to oversee this nation from this city. But it's not happening! Babylon rules. I am not Babylon. I am the creator of the universe, the Almighty One, and I don't bow the knee to Babylon or any other system. It is my system that must be set up in Canberra so that it infiltrates, percolates down to the whole of the nation.

See to it, Canberra, that this happens. It is your responsibility, it is your city, you live here. You are the people, you are the politicians. It is your responsibility to toe the line and bring things into order, into alignment with me. This is the day of decision making, a day of weighing in the balance.

It is 2016. It is a borderline – it is like a knife edge. It is like the frame of a see-saw that tips one way or the other. The decisions you make Canberra, in the near future will determine the path you go down, and I desire that it be the right decisions.

Rise up my church and take your place. You are my 'called out' ones whom I've set in this place as a beacon and a light, but you are hiding it “under a bushel”. You must let your light shine, and it's not by carrying placards, but it's by being the light – genuine light-bearers that transmit like a copper wire does electricity to a bulb. You must be the incandescent lights that brightly light up from the electricity [as] the Spirit flows from me to you. This is my desire for my 'called out' ones here in this city, to be the light, to draw, like a light draws insects. Be that light to draw people. Draw politicians so they see the light and desire it and become lights themselves.

This is not a city in the dust, this is a jewel city, a great city, a citadel, and it needs to become that. But it's all up to the people, because the decisions that they make determine the course the city takes. So hear me my people, hear me Canberra. Turn to my ways, there is prosperity there, there is love, there is grace. The path you are on does not bring those. Return to me, that is the most important thing to do right now.”
