

Rain

The recent torrential rains that came down across your nation were like a great sheet or a great wall that divided the 'haves' and the 'have nots'. I say in My word that I allow the sun to rise and the rain to fall on everyone, the just and the unjust, so why is there a separation now?

The haves are those who choose the world over Me, and they also choose to be ignorant of My way. Some of them think that they have spiritual truth, but the fact is, they don't. Their focus is not on Me. They believe they can control their destiny and they teach others to do the same. They have a mindset that contradicts My way. They despise the 'have nots' because to them they are weak. The 'haves' say to those who have not, that God is not with them and only the strong rule. They think that I don't see what they are doing.

I've sent this rain to remind the 'haves' that I'm in charge and also to loosen the lies about Me propagated by them. However, let me remind you that all of you are capable of choosing to act selfishly and independently from Me at any time in your life. My love and mercy is to everyone, and it is my desire that all men will come to the full knowledge of My son.

Heaven's favour is over those who have not for they are the poor in spirit. I've watched these ones over the years sow seeds of humility, meekness, patience, long suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, mercy, love, forgiveness, repentance, grace, hope, purity, trustworthiness, devotion, faith and righteousness, despite being mocked, persecuted, despised and crushed from all sides.

The rain is My presence to encourage and lift the 'have nots'. It is to show these ones that I am always a good Father to them and I want to bless and reward them for their faithfulness. I send the rain to water the seeds that they sow. The rain also breaks the dry hard ground so that these seeds can germinate. These seeds carry life, and when they begin to grow, they have the power to change the atmosphere of their cities, governments, homes and individuals.

To the 'have nots', have faith and hope in Me. Do not be bound by any wrong ideas propagated by the 'haves' that say that you are worthless. This rain is My presence and My love for you, to bring forth your heart's desires, which are also My desires.

Seek My truth and do not be hindered by wrong mindsets. I want you to be like little children who are innocent, trusting and unreserved. Step into My rivers of blessings today and go deep.

Open your hands wide to receive what I have for you. I want to show that I am a good Father to you. So, I want you to ask, but ask radically and extravagantly, without hesitation. You haven't been bold enough to ask because you were afraid of asking for the wrong things. Just ask and let us dialogue [together]. I invite you to ask without reservation.

Tien

6th June 2016