

The Separated Company

26-11-2016

I woke this morning with a sense that our King wanted to reveal more to me about the company he's separating, so I asked him to tell me more about it.

“The separation has occurred because I want my people for myself. This is a 2-way street, as it requires my people to love me with their whole heart. This is not inexplicable – it's 'as plain as the nose on your face'. Should I want or demand any more or any less? It is inconceivable for me to accept anything other than full compliance and devotion, but my people can't see it that way. They are too busy fitting me into their lives, instead of their lives centring around me.

How I yearn for my beloveds to come to me with their full hearts and devotion so we can be one together. I have called and called, but very few have desired what I desire.

So this is the time of demarcation. From now on I am looking for those who will devote themselves to me. This is not a heavy burden I place on my people – it's a reasonable expectation as I am a reasonable being. Yes, reasonable. I'm not overbearing or demanding, because I operate as family with my children. Not dogmatically, and dominating them, but loving them and drawing them in with great amounts of grace. I forgive much: I overlook much.

However, this is the time where I'm looking for my devoted ones. Those who will follow me through the fires of refinement and the fires of conflict as we take the enemy head-on. It is true that many have loved me in the past, but this special time is different. I'm looking for partners now, not performers. Partners work from their love of me: performers are trying to please me from their own intellect and emotion. No more. I say, “No more.” It is time for a change, a big change. I have been looking forward to this as the time is now right for my band of brothers to do great exploits with me. Did you get that? Brothers. A band of brothers in similar fashion to my 12 disciples years ago. O, how I have longed for that camaraderie that we had together. I have missed it. But now I have it.

I have separated you for this purpose, and there are many others. It will be like a secret society that moves with stealth until everything is in place and then they manifest. Do you see that?

I'm excited about it. I have been planning for it and waiting for the time to release it. It's now, so join me in this. Fulfil my heart's desire and be a brother and a friend to me, but do it with your whole heart. Yes, I'm really excited about this. My heart has been aching for the company of “true believers” – those who truly know who I am and believe in me in a way that is different to others. They believe out of experience, not hope or theology.

So, today marks the start of new things – a new phase of the way things are to be. Stay close to me and let me pour myself into you for your good. I have taken you on a journey to arrive at this point, but the journey continues. We will do the journey together and enjoy each other in the process.

I have much to say about where we are going and what we will do. So, keep 'tuned' on this channel – our love channel – and all will be revealed in good time.

We are one now. So don't lose heart by looking around you or at your circumstances. You have given yourself to me, so I will take care of you. Don't expect an 'easy ride', but as you live in oneness with me, just rest and leave everything to me. I am faithful and will not lead you astray or leave you unresourced. Do not become faint-hearted. Become resolved to see things through and we will do it together. O how wonderful it will be – together as one, working for my Father, loving him and honouring him as we go about his business.

Stay tuned. More to come in good time.

Stay close to me. “Abide in me” – live in me. Live out of our oneness and don't fear the storms that will come against you.

Remember, my kingdom operates by faith – all faith, faith in me.

'Til we talk again on this matter, remain IN me.’

Laurence
26-11-2016