

What's it Like to Relate Intimately?

Read the prophetic words below.

“When you are weary and cannot seem to find a way to connect to my presence, reach for me, and I will carry you. When all you can do is bow low and whisper with faint surrender, I am there. I never dismiss your cries for help. I hear every movement of your heart toward me. I’m here, beloved. Lean back into my arms and give me every care, every worry, all of your pain. I am here, and I will continue to carry you in my presence.

In your weakness, I am strong. I don’t fault you for being affected by these trials that have sought to destroy you. Instead, I smother your weakness with my strength and draw you near. I hold hope in my hands and will massage it ever so gently into your heart. In my presence, you will find relief. In my arms, you will find comfort. I will pour out my love so profusely, you will be consumed with peace again. I will carry you beyond the threshold of pain into a beautiful place of victory.”¹

“Do not fret about things you have no control over. Worry doesn't help anything. You need to be convinced that when you come to Me, I will steer you in the right direction and keep you safe. Release troubling things to Me and be assured that I hear you. Rise above the fray and find your place of peace in Me.”²

“Many of you, My people, are feeling unloved and rejected. Allow My love to surround, permeate, and lift you up. I love and care for you above and beyond what you can understand; it is a love that is eternal. Let love be perfected in you and pour out of you towards one another.”³

Don't dismiss them as more ‘warm-&-fuzzy’ messages for Christians to feel good, instead of dealing with the issues of life as a son.

These words from Beloved are a reality to those who are in an intimate relationship with him. He can be trusted to do everything he says in them because they're not unattainable for you. Religion and legalism prevent you appropriating these intimacies because they make you feel like you're not good enough or you're sinfully ‘dirty’. Or, alternatively, you strive too much and your natural efforts negate making a connection.

The up-shot? Learn to go deeper by practising your intimacy. It's all up to you. He's there. But until you completely surrender to that knowledge, and stop fretting and stressing about life, you won't receive what he has for you in his DEEP love.

In the natural, there's so much divorce and separation with marriages these days because spouses don't ‘draw’ life and love from each other to provide the affection and attention their natural beings need. They're too busy focussed on themselves, or on their emotional pain and hurt, and that only makes it worse.

The same with your relationship with the Trinity. While ever you're focussed on the difficulties and problems of life and don't commit yourself 100% to an intimate relationship – which is complete abandonment to them – you won't receive everything they have in the area of supplying all your personal needs. This is part of the way sons are supposed to connect with ‘God’ – intimately.

IMPORTANT: A divided heart kills intimacy. What's the main love of your heart?
