

Stand Firm in the Face of Turmoil and Chaos

One thing we've learnt from Lance Wallnau is that we have to enjoy the processes Father takes us through as he molds and shapes us, to transforms us into who we are to become. We've been taught by Father that we have to trust him, rest in what he can do and learn to relax in life because we can rely on him to 'come through'.

None of that is easy, but as times become more chaotic and darker (as we've been shown), we really have to focus on developing our trust, rest and relaxation in the Trinity. Otherwise (as we've also been told), we won't survive what's coming.

What we must realise is that as we work with the Trinity as a team, they are 'rooting' for us to succeed. They aren't sneering at our failures and giving up on us. They actually want us to succeed because our success allows their plans for the Kingdom on Earth to succeed.

Don't believe me. Check this out:

*"I have seen the whirlwind of activity around you and the dust the enemy has stirred up to bring confusion and cloud the issues. But, I have also seen your willingness and ability to stand firm in the face of turmoil and not be moved by the chaos around you. And, I say to you, well done! You have refused to release yourself to anger and debate, and you have taken a position of trust and obedience to My [spoken] word [to you]¹. Clarity will come just as surely as the sun burns through the morning fog. Rejoice! For the victory is sweet."*²

Strength and honour.
