INVESTIGATION

Both the Roman Catholic and Evangelical gospels are based on fear

WHY?

The purpose is to keep their congregations attending

The system and the cleric's wages cease if the numbers disappear

[3]

Fear of Hell and excommunication are drummed into the congregation so they proselytise their friends and family

That's the propagation psychology

How do I know?

I've been in 5 church systems in my life and my experiential analysis gives me that understanding

True, the clerics and pastoral teams may be loving and and not referencing Hell, but they change when you stop going to their meetings and paying your ‘dues’

I’ve not complied with their meeting program, reduced attendance, and even pulled out – they changed, and became hostile.

They'll use terms like, "Where do you fellowship (or, go to church)?"

That's code for: "You're on your way to Hell!"

FEAR doesn't come from the Kingdom

The Trinity do not use any kind of fear at all

Any fear should be rejected ‘offhand’‡

‡: ‘without looking for information and without thinking carefully; immediately’
https://dictionary.cambridge.org/dictionary/english/offhand

Once we learn to trust the members of the Trinity, fear will evaporate

To achieve that, we need to reject all fear-based church doctrines and teachings

That rejection is essential for the teachings which mix covenants, bringing OT concepts into the New Covenant

When we have the correct understanding of the character of Father, Son and Spirit, we can begin to trust them

Fear will then have no basis for impacting us

For instance: Hell and excommunication are fear-based, so they should be rejected

That's why Universalism fits in with the character of the the Trinity and there's no fear involved in it
