

HOW TO: Represent Our King to Others

I had a very short dream on the night of 5th October 2017 – call it a revelatory experience. In part of it the Lord said to me, “I want you to represent me”. The sense of the dream was that we are to represent him as he represented Father when he was on Earth as the man Jesus of Nazareth.¹ In other words, we are to operate as he did as the first Spirit-Filled human being, under the anointing of Holy Spirit.

Jesus used Word of Knowledge constantly during his interaction with people. In his book “God Secrets” Shawn Bolz lists 33 different ways Word of Knowledge was used in the NT. Shawn operates in Word of Knowledge² which enables him to impact believers and non-believers with heavenly knowledge not available from any other source. Here’s an example:

“Several years ago, during a church service in Singapore where I was ministering, I called out a woman's name and through a word of knowledge knew her birthday.

"You have a dog that you lost," I said to her. She shook her head, "No", but I continued. "I see this dog named Rick, he was always biting you and running off and scratching and biting your kids. But he has run away for good and can no longer hurt you and the kids. Let him go; you will never find him again. God has something better for you than a dog."

As I shared with her, she cried the whole time. Later, she came up to me and the pastor and told us, "I don't have a dog named Rick. I have a husband named Rick who has been womanizing and has basically abandoned us. I have been praying for restoration, but your word helped me realize that after twenty years, he's not going to stop having affairs and that I need to protect myself and my family. God is good. I feel delivered."

Now I would have never called a person a dog, nor would I have given a word to discourage marriage. I'm too positive for that. But obviously, God knew how to get through to this precious lady and help her because she couldn't come to a decision in her very abusive relationship. He did it in such a creative way that she wasn't exposed, and I didn't even know what was happening.”³

Shawn expounds on Word of Knowledge:

“Words of knowledge are not dependent on your disposition, your thoughts, your understanding, or even your emotional intelligence or biblical interpretation of theology. Just as Peter said he couldn't eat unclean foods that God told him to eat because it was against the rules of his faith—instead of the Lord of His faith—sometimes we follow our relationship with God and it actually proves the nature of the Bible that we have previously misunderstood.

We have a spiritual mind that's intimately developed and connected through our relationship with others. As Paul says, we literally have the mind of Christ and, as His mind develops in us, we start to grow in our capacity to have wisdom, revelations, and profound ideas that can shape the world around us.”⁴

Word of Knowledge is just one way we can represent our King to others.

The following YouTube extract from the movie Ben Hur exemplifies one area where we are to be like Jesus.

Jesus was able to walk through groups of people unharmed⁵, and we can do that too. Many times modern-day Christians distributing tracts in communist China have become invisible to soldiers on the streets as they walked straight past them. Brother Yun⁶ was able to do this when the angel helped him escape from prison in China.

Jesus laid hands on lepers, healing them, without contracting the disease himself. John G Lake was able to do it during a bubonic plague outbreak.⁷

In the following video Jonathan Welton explains where Jesus is taking us if we are brave enough to follow him.

Many prophetic voices are calling us to rise up and demonstrate the power of the presence of the Kingdom of Heaven. Here’s a recent one from Marsh Burns:

“The call has gone out to the ends of the earth to those who have ears to hear I am calling you to dedicate yourself wholly to My kingdom and spiritual purpose. Refuse to be complacent or lukewarm. Renew your commitment to rise above worldliness and seek to walk in the power of My Spirit, says the Lord. The days are evil, but My people will be a light in the darkness.”⁸

Note all the points I’ve underlined. These are critical.

We are being called into the cohort of those who will display the Kingdom’s power by operating as Jesus did. The call is to manifest as the sons of God who have been predestined to be revealed on the Earth in the Last Days.⁹

The invitation is for all those “who have ears to hear”¹⁰ the call, but the process to prepare those who volunteer is long and difficult. There is a sifting process going on and not everyone will pass the many tests and trials.

So get excited, count the cost,¹¹ and when ready, volunteer in your intimate time with our King that you want to be in this special regiment of his.

Be like him. Operate like him. Impact others.

NOTE: Our King hasn’t been told what happens to those who don’t want to rise up, nor has he told us what happens to those who give up during the process of preparation.
