

WARNING: It's Now More Urgent to Deal with Defiance

As I was writing a lesson for Canberra School For Prophets last week I typed the words, “so that the return of the King continues on target, without impeding delay.” As I was doing this I sensed that it was more urgent now that we deal with our defiance of our King than it was 2 years ago when he first gave us the warning.

Our defiance of his wishes, not the unsaved, is holding up his return. The logic of it is that there are billions of pieces in his End Time mosaic jig-saw puzzle that he has to daily put into place so that his coming is brought closer. When we defy him, our pieces cannot be put in place and the ‘domino effect’ of that is that other connected pieces are unable to be placed into the ‘picture’. His plans are therefore stymied by us.

He is using the term ‘defiance’ rather than ‘disobedience’ because he is working with us as sons and friends. He sees us as these and treats us as such – even if we relate to him as his servants or slaves. Slaves are given orders and must obey: sons and partnering friends are given directives and invitations to which he’s looking for compliance. When we so, “No”, to his gentle requests, we are defying him, we are in defiance of our King, the awesome Mighty One of the universe.

Things are speeding up now and it’s even more imperative that we say, “Yes”, to every request that his Spirit makes of us. We don’t have the luxury any more to renege on our duty as sons to be about Father’s business because we are embarrassed or too busy. He’s looking for us to partner with him, to be one with him, to be joined at the hip with him, so that his plans easily and instantly slot into place.

This is why we are only required to do what the Spirit tells us. We can make righteous decisions for every other component of our lives, but it must also align with his plans, not ours. For example: The Babylonian religious and economic systems are coming to an end, so it’s fruitless to align with them.

Our failure to allow him to implement “Everything must change” in our lives is a deep defiance because we have been given this instruction years ago and we haven’t surrendered to him completely for this to take place. THIS IS DEFIANCE.

When we maintain our lifestyle and don’t allow it to be the lifestyle of a Kingdom citizen; when we continue in our religious activities and justify them because that’s what Christians should do; when we don’t surrender ourselves wholeheartedly to being a living part of a Kingdom Community family; when we don’t comply with everything we’ve been shown in the recent past – THIS IS DEFIANCE.

Time is short. Things are accelerating at a phenomenal pace while we just drift along. We are missing so much of our birthright as Kingdom sons because we don’t change. We are oblivious to the imperative nature of ‘today’. It’s time to cast off the old ways and comply with our King’s program of ourselves and those we have responsibility for.
