

The Responsibility of the King

“A good king is personally responsible for the welfare of every citizen. This is not the case in a democracy. In a democracy, the leaders—the president or prime minister, the congressmen, the state or provincial governor, the city mayor or district councils—none of them lose any sleep if some of their citizens can’t pay their light bill... This cannot happen in a kingdom, because the king’s reputation is tied to his people’s welfare. He becomes personally embarrassed when any of his citizens are broke. He does not want them to have to ask for bread and water, because it makes him look negligent. It is as if they are telling the world that he has failed in his responsibilities, he has forgotten his promises, and he does not have the resources in the first place.”¹

Jesus referred to this royal welfare on many occasions:

- No need to ask for your needs to be supplied. Father already knows what they are.
- Don’t worry about your needs. Father will provide them for you if you focus on what he’s focussed on
- Let Jesus look after the burdens of life. He can do it easily for you.

“You have the full protection of Heaven regardless of what happens around you. You can always be sure that your government and your King are looking after your safety as well as your every provision.”²

Laurence

3-3-2019

(www.CanberraForerunners.org)

COPYRIGHT

All quotes and graphics are copyrighted to authors cited.

This document is free to copy, republish and distribute, but only ‘as is’.

All Canberra Forerunners' documents are licensed under

Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 Unported License

1 – Myles Munroe (2016) “The Principle and Power of Kingdom Citizenship: Keys to Experiencing Heaven on Earth” p:113

2 – Myles Munroe (2016) “The Principle and Power of Kingdom Citizenship: Keys to Experiencing Heaven on Earth” p:115