

Mindset and Strategy are Our Basic Problem

Dan Peña (AKA “The Trillion Dollar Man” & “The Money Messiah”) writes:

“When difficult decisions need to be taken the average person goes wrong by solving the wrong problems...

Bad decisions are made because situations are not considered in a broader context. This leads to developing tolerance and accepting problems. Choosing solutions from decisions is more a habit than figuring what decisions should be addressed. The easy way out is to do what comes naturally and not question the issues as this becomes an emotionally-easier decision.”¹

Entrepreneurs and financially successful people like Peña know that emotions get in the way of decision-making as we travel down the road of life. I’m sure you can agree with this as you look back at the many decisions you’ve made where your emotions got involved.

Moran Pober says:

"Any problem you have in business or in life in general is either a MINDSET PROBLEM or a STRATEGY PROBLEM".²

Who is Moran Pober? He's the founder, CEO & President of Acquisitions.com and has had extensive dealings with many entrepreneurial projects. He has carried out extensive assignments with many 7-figure companies. He is also a former Israeli Defense Force soldier.

So our main problem with making progress in life is that we have the wrong mindset &/or the wrong strategy for most situations we face. Moran admits that most people will say, “Hey, I don't have a problem with my mindset”. Dan Peña answers that retort by showing that emotions create and interfere with people’s mindset.

From a kingdom perspective, “Our inability to prosper or go to the next level will always be attributable to either a bad mindset or a bad strategy, or both”³

From an apostolic perspective, the reason God’s New Covenant people haven’t fulfilled his plans for creation over the past 2,000 years can be attributed to the wrong mindsets and the wrong strategies. This is exemplified in their failure to receive and implement Heaven’s strategies and their desire to follow the mindsets that man (humans) have generated. I speak specifically of Christianity which is a religion that has only produced the church system(s).

In this New Era of the Kingdom, forerunners are leading the process to transform the people of God into the ekklesia and the cohort of Kingdom citizens they are meant to be. They are training them to be in alignment with Heaven and to be totally focussed on Kingdom business. The apostolic are an essential component of this as they guide the process using the blueprints and strategies they receive from Heaven.
