

Soldiers Receive Communication from their Commanding Officer

We are being trained and prepared for battle.¹ This is a spiritual battle for the possession of ourselves, our families, our city, our nation and our planet. This is not pentecostal spiritual warfare as is commonly taught. This is warfare against the Kingdom of Darkness using our positional authority as sons and as autonomous planet managers. The processes we are undergoing at this time is to learn how to operate in our 'deity'², as sons of the Most High God, in the natural realm.

There's so much we need to learn. That's because religion and legalism are deterrents to our learning, not beneficial. For a start (as I have been labouring in my teaching for some years now) we have to decide how we are going to receive our operational communication.

In the field, soldiers get their active instructions from their commanding officers, not from their training manuals. Valuable military textbooks are useless as references in respect to what they need to know logistically and tactically every moment of the day. Training manuals only give them the basics so they know how to think like a soldier. Without in-field commands and instructions, soldiers are basically useless and unco-ordinated as a battle group.

We need to put our basic training behind us, get our nose out of our 'textbook' and personally hear from our commander-in-chief all the time. There's no other way to function in alignment with Heaven's plans.

Our current training is to mature us into the sons³ that Father purposed when he created Adam.⁴ If we don't mature in sonship, we can't be used effectively from now on in the new era of the Kingdom we are in.⁵ Maturity in theological or biblical knowledge will not 'cut it' any more. We need to be trained as elite soldiers and pass all our training tests so we can be in that small group of effective militia who are the most effective for the King.⁶
