

Father's Mind on the Second Coming

The Second Coming of Jesus is a central tenet of the Christian Religion, but is it really on its way, sometime in the future. If it's not, then waiting for Jesus to return to fix the mess the world is in is a futile belief.

As all truth is held within the Trinity, that's where we'll find out about the doctrine of the Second Coming – reality is not found anywhere else.

"I am not coming, 'I Am' is present within all my children. Do not be deceived by any agenda, doctrine, teaching or theology that puts what is present into the future. I came physically and I came spiritually and I am present in all – but I am visible mostly in those who know me and know love by personal experience as the light that is rising and shining to reveal the true nature of who I am. In reality there is no second coming, or first coming for that matter, as 'I Am' has always been present in manifold ways, even before the beginning as you know it. 'I Am', therefore I am present and never coming, and all exists within 'I Am'. All live, move and have their being within 'I Am' and 'I Am' is omnipresent and therefore present within all things. I am visibly present as the light within my people who have hidden that light under the coverings of the religious DIY systems. Have I not called my people to arise and shine to be on display so that I am on display as my body on earth as I am in Heaven? I am light and love; and love's light is to shine brightly through my transfigured children like a light on a lampstand and a city on a hill displaying its glory. I am here, now, in my children; not 'coming again' in a future event which is a figment of religious imagination..."

What has been misinterpreted as my second coming is in fact my already presence on Earth in my people, those who know me, so they can be the light to reveal that I am within all who do not yet know me. Just as I was manifested as light that shone brightly around Saul to transform him into Paul, I am present to be the light that radiates from my body on Earth as they are in Heaven. My people are my presence and are not to be looking for my coming and therefore futurise² what should be a present reality."³
