

No Faith - No Entry

Now that you've had a break, it's time to get back to work on what I've planned for you this year. It's a big year, with much going on. You'll be surprised at what transpires and where it leads you. I have your best interest at heart, so don't be afraid and surrender completely to me.

There's much to do - much planning is required on your behalf to get things up and running. It's not going to be that easy, but your reliance on me will see it 'breeze' through without 'hiccups'.

Yes, you'll work with XXXX¹ this year. He'll take you to a new level of operation where you'll feel like you're flying. I'll open the doors for you, but you must step through with faith. Faith is the key to all this work ahead of you. No faith - no entry. So, step out in your faith in me as if it was just natural. Walking on water is just as easy as what you'll exercise your faith to do today and during this year. Don't look 'down' and let fear consume you as fear nullifies your faith and I cannot operate with fear. Not that I fear fear, it's just that fear gets in the road and blocks the work that you need to step into.

Yes, you're right, fear is your greatest enemy at present. It will be used by the enemy as much as possible to keep you hemmed in and 'wing-bound'². You won't be able to fly as you need to if you continue to submit to fear. It was good that you trusted me with your trip home down the mountain, with your safety and with the protection of your property and possessions. That simple faith has to be extended to all things - meetings, community, teaching, conferences, organisation - to all and sundry as you might say.

Distraction from tasks is your other 'enemy'. These two will keep you tied up in knots and well away from the good plans I have shown you.

Trust. Trust me implicitly. You know how to do it, so just do it.

I've been pleased with your progress to date, but you must 'step up a gear' as I'm running out of time to fit you in in some areas. I must get everything to fit in - to slot together for premium outcomes and results. See to it that you comply with me - with my word to you - so you are always ready to jump in - to move forward; to move on.

I've been training you to work in family and in relationship. See to it that this process develops quickly and deeply in you as this is needed to counteract your past [independence] which is overshadowing your transformation.

Today is a busy day as you catch up from being away.

Don't let the natural overshadow you and nullify your spirit-man. Keep focussing on your spirit - and my Spirit - and let them operate together. It's not easy to do all the time, but it's where you must be able to operate. This will begin your transformation into the way you desire to operate. Trust me in this as it is 'new water' for you and you are moving in this uncharted water as a babe.

You've chosen to move forward in this area and I'm delighted. Delighted for you and delighted that you've made the choice. Few make the choice and it's essential for the future of this planet that many more follow your lead and do the same. It's not all that difficult, because that's the way you were made, it's just that your natural-man (your 'flesh') gets in the way. You are right, the focus is on the natural from the time a person is born and the spirit-man is 'wiped out' of existence, as it were, for the bulk of believers and non-believers. Believe in me that this will work for you - that you will move in this area where your spirit-man has ascendancy - where your spirit-man dominates.
