

"You Are a King to Your Family"

Yes, you are a king to your family.' I have set you up (installed you) in this place of kingship so you can lead them - just like Moses, who was a prince. He stuck close to me and became my friend, and we met face to face. This is what I want us to become - face-to-face friends, intimately knowing each other.

You have desired this and you have desired well. I will grant you this, but you must be prepared for the 'fallout'. Moses was venerated, but he was alone, separated from the people, and suffered from their ignorance and lack of understanding/maturity. Once you move into this place with me, you will not be the same. You will become mine more strongly, and as you've said this morning, you want to be mine but there is a cost - not just in taking up your cross to do my will, but the downside is your separation from others. You will be connected to me in such a way that the world system and people will seem shallow to you - unrewarding and unfulfilling. Just remember this and deal with it in preparation. I know you have settled with having a lonely life as a prophet, but believe me, when you become my personal intimate friend, this separation, this 'alone-ness' will be greater. Fix your eyes on me, connect with me with all your being and let me be everything so that the loneliness and difficulties that will arise from people will not be an issue. By that I mean the [negative] interaction with people will be nullified (counteracted) in you by the joy and satisfaction of my presence.

You have chosen well to follow - and desire - what I have given to you through my prophets.

I will meet with you. Prepare yourself to receive me in times and ways of my choosing. This will not be as simple as a religious ceremony - this will be real and raw. By "raw" I mean there will be no contrivances, no embellishments. You will have to receive me as I am and as I operate. You will not be able to manipulate my circumstances of meeting with you - I am the Lord, the Holy One and I bow to no one's expectations or plans. Settle that in your heart as that will be a requirement for my meeting with you.

Keep yourself holy - under my blood. Do not stray from the path as there are spiritual consequences for such an arrangement as this. The enemy will 'pull out all stops' to pull you down and steal what you have in the spiritual realm. Do not give in to him or [to] temptation. Remain firm (solid), with a face like steel - steel yourself in other words - so that you can remain grounded in me and my word to you.

See to it that you don't elevate yourself above others as this is pride. Pride will cease this arrangement with you (i.e. cancel it). Remain humble and submissive to me and my will. Keep your eyes on me - I can't emphasise this enough. Like walking on water, Peter faltered when he took his eyes off me. True, he looked at the circumstances which produced an opening for fear to replace faith. With you, your eyes on me will keep you from placing your eyes on yourself and rising in pride. It will also allow trust to build as you will need it (i.e. trust) to remain connected to me through the trials that will come.

You are my voice - I have raised you for this. You've known it for a long time and now is the time for its realization. Trust me with what I tell you and keep it to yourself - unless I give you freedom to share (divulge) what transpires and what I've said to you. <continued in part b>
