

Prepare for Persecution

Thank you for coming this morning, I enjoyed our time together. You should do it this way more often.

We are achieving things together - you and I. It gives me great pride in you to see you strive and achieve in my strength. As you listen and take in, I am encouraged that you are with me and tracking the path I've set before you.

Know this: I am for you, not against you. I resist those who are against me and also the proud. You are neither of these and so I am for you. Yes, I am for you. You don't realise this to the depth that you need to, but you will. You are greatly loved - yes, greatly loved.

Stay the course through all opposition, as opposition will increase in time. You are aware of this, but I warn you now to prepare yourself for persecution. You are 'sticking your neck out' and it's not appreciated by some groups of people. Stick with me and the attacks will not 'stick' to you. Come up on my mountain as I invited you and you will see clearly and deal with what comes against you clearly. By that I mean, you will clearly and deliberately handle the attacks in peace and rest. Be content in me and you'll see that any attack against you will be ineffective. Focus on your work and you will suffer because you have allowed yourself to put more affection in that, than in me. This is a test. Do it well, my son.

Yes, you are my son and I'm very pleased with you. You've waited to hear me say that for a long time, so I say it now to encourage and build 'grit' in you to 'tough out' what's coming.

There are times ahead for the gentiles to be weeded. Your job as part of that weeding process is to sow the seeds of truth - the seeds of the Kingdom - so that the weeds have some comparison. It will be evident what and who the weeds are when your seeds of the Kingdom grow. We will use that comparison to bring judgement on those needing to be judged. It will not be you who judges, it will be us. We will make that decision to bring judgement. Do not concern yourself with it - just sow, as you have been doing. "The sower went forth to sow" and there were many responses. Your job is to sow and leave the rest to us. We will handle everything. Be a 'good' sower of the Kingdom seed. We will nurture and nourish the growing plants, so don't concern yourself with that aspect.

Keep moving with the Kingdom community. There are changes ahead, but I will alert you to that, in time.

You are doing well - in your terms. But I want to say, "You're doing fantastically". There, I've said it to you, so take it to yourself and continue as you are doing things. Don't be proud, just receive it with thanksgiving and let it encourage you that I am with you and 'rooting' for you.

Time is short, but not too short for you to fit in what needs to be done. There's much to do, but there's no urgency to cause you to get frustrated. Relax and let the process flow. It's my job to get things moving and to 'oil the machinery' (as you put it), to 'keep the engine running hot'. That's a good description. Just like a car humming along - that's how things are progressing.

See to it that you keep your family together in the Kingdom. Don't let them stray. Teach them and encourage them to follow me to where I have a destiny for them. Teach them; train them. It's all up to you, even though they have the right to make their own decisions. Your mum too.

See, that's not too difficult a task? You thought it would be onerous - it's not. Just love and teach. Draw them in to Kingdom things and you'll see a big change.

Bless you my son. Keep the faith. Keep struggling with the issues at hand. By 'struggling' I mean, working with them to resolve them.

(Words in brackets are what I understood in my spirit immediately I was given something to write)
