

Taking The Next Step

With the Kingdom rapidly changing¹ in this new era², our lives need to change with it so we keep in alignment with what Heaven is doing on Earth. Once we're out of alignment, our contribution to the impact of the Kingdom is greatly reduced and will probably be inconsequential. The reason for failure is that we've been requested to remain in alignment with the Trinity so they can work through us to achieve their purposes, not ours.

From now on, we'll be required to step out into areas where we aren't comfortable or to do things that cause us to hesitate and balk. However, for the Kingdom to move forward at the rate that's required, we can't let ourselves falter, but to step out in faith as the Spirit leads us. This will cause many to flounder because they haven't practised going 'against the stream', but have preferred to submit to peer pressure and follow the ways of the established church.

It will take 'guts' to 'step out' because the opposition is ramping up. That's why our intimate relationship with the Trinity (preferably our oneness with them), will be our safe haven so we can comply with their instructions, rather than cower to the pressure of others.

Three recent prophetic messages are an encouragement in this regard for those who need to be encouraged:

*"Step into all that I have chosen to bring to pass in your life. I will direct you by my glory cloud and with my presence. Faith does not hesitate when my cloud has moved...Never be afraid to step out. It is there that you will find more of me. I have gone before you to prepare the way, and I will be your peace. When you take risks and let my light shine in the dark places, my glory will explode on the scene. I am with you, for you, and working through you. All that I am in you, I want to pour out through you to others. Step into the newness of what I have for you, and you will see the power of my Spirit released through you. I have equipped you with all that you need, and I will be the grace for every step you take."*³

*"These are days of readjustment. There are things that you let go of that need to be picked up again. It was right to let go, but now it is right to pick up the pieces and move on and leave your disappointment and discouragement behind. Take your next steps with confidence and hope."*⁴

*"When confusion sets in and you do not know how to proceed, begin again and allow Me to direct your steps. You must calm down, stop being afraid and listen for My wisdom. I will most certainly speak to your heart. Position yourself to hear."*⁵

The directive is to take the next step as the Spirit leads, no matter if it seems going backwards or off-track. Father's plans are perfect, so nothing he asks us to do is inconsequential, trivial or erroneous.

You may have failed before, but now it's time to put that behind you and step out anew. Here's a message on that:

"It's time", says the Lord, "and it's time for the more. You were held back in lies and shams plotted by the enemy and now, no more. I'm telling you now that the great I AM is making a way. It's your Red Sea, and the greatest of hold ups and set backs could not keep you down but only propel you as I use IT ALL for your destiny to be set in motion. Nothing will stop you now! My Love for you will overshadow you and those dreams that were incubating in you almost birthing at times will now come forth. There is a glory – a glory of love coupled with your faith that is bringing in that which I have promised.

"What price can be put on this glory realm? The entrance to the door of this realm was and is your 'overcoming spirit', wanting at times to give up but not giving into that. There was still a drop of faith that was working inside of you and the faith I had given you was working its work. You were held back, yes, but now I say, 'It's time'. For you will ride the wave of an overcoming spirit. A wave so big that you have learned to navigate and maneuver your stance and position in that wave. A warrior of the wave.

"You overcame in the onslaught of the thoughts of your mind. You overcame in the mundane daily activities. You overcame in the rejection of man. You overcame in the betrayal of those who persecuted you. You overcame in the darkness. You overcome when all you could see was the opposite of what you had living inside of you. You overcame in the corridor of transition! And I have hidden manna for you that will sustain you and nourish you in ways you have not known.

"AND NOW MY BELOVED, it's time! For you have been processed and refined and your spiritual senses tuned to the frequency of My desire. I gave you big dreams to dream and walk out and have given My people greatness of heart and bounty of spirit. There is a readiness, and I say 'embarkation' is here. It's time. When I say it's time, the doors open! When I say it's time everything that needed to come into strategic alignment has been put into place and now I say, 'It's time!'

"You will go forth NOW and overcome. You will conquer, and as you go and as you pursue, you will increase and you will overtake, for I am with you and My Word is in you! ... This is it""⁶
