

PROPHETIC JOURNAL ENTRY: Stressing Counteracts What I'm Doing

I've told you to wait for me, so wait patiently. Don't stress over what you can't see and can't do. All is not lost.

You are going through a process of refinement and this takes time. Relax in me and let me change you for your own good. If you stress, you counteract what I am doing. It is, however, OK to desire more. 'More' is not the problem, it's your mindset that is. Your attitude must be 'rest', because Heaven is a place of rest and that's where things happen. Rest and peace are hallmarks of my Kingdom, so align with these. Fix them into your daily routine so you're not marginalised from the fruit that they bring to you.

Yes, you are being tested. This is a constant situation with you as I'm wanting you to change and move forward - as much as you desire it.

Yes, things will be better for you in the future, but for now, relax and enjoy what I am doing in you and around you.

Don't look at the slackness of others (which you have been doing) as it will only steal your joy. Your joy and bubbiness are a source of strength and encouragement for others who connect with you. Don't lose them.

Thanks for passing my message on to the African lady. She needed to hear it as her life is currently undergoing renovation and I need to do more. Religion needs to be extracted from her to release her into the work I have for her to do. Well done.

Enjoy today. Enjoy your wife.

Laurence
27-8-2018
(www.CanberraForerunners.org)

All journal entries are → HERE

COPYRIGHT

This document is free to copy, republish and distribute, but only 'as is'. It is free to quote from at length.
All Canberra Forerunners' documents are licensed under Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 Unported License