

PROPHETIC JOURNAL ENTRY: I'm Confident in You

This is an important time [for you] in this new era [of the Kingdom] to stick close to me, as I've been continuously encouraging you to do. Yes, the enemy will 'pull out all stops' to try to take you out, but I have everything under control. The proviso there is that you remain 'stuck' to me like glue. Deviation from that, as well as the path I have you on, is a 'recipe for disaster'.

Think before you do things. Think before you speak. You represent me very formally, so it's vital that you comply with what I show you. There's no place in your life to 'do your own thing' any more. Sanctify yourself to me. Set yourself aside to do nothing but fit in perfectly with my plans for you. Yes, there will be difficulties, but the joy and the blessings will abound in what I have ahead for you.

Don't look to the right or the left. Don't regret what you've done in the past. Instead, focus on the work now and [for] the future. Looking back is disastrous. Many don't realise that.

Have you heard me say to you that I want all of you? No? Well, that's not a fête accompli with what you think. It will take effort on your part - more effort - for that to be achieved. You've come a long way in this, but there's still a long way to go. Consider what you do with your time and your life, and allow me to trim it down to what's vitally important [essential]. There's still much to weed out. I know you don't realise that, but it is the case. So, yield to me, not your soul, and let's get to work on it.

I greatly appreciate your time with me - your personal time in the mornings - and I know you do too. It's great to be together like that every day and for you to be strengthened and encouraged by it. However, deeper oneness is more than that, and that's where I want to take you. It's what you've asked for, so prepare yourself to go deeper. By that I mean, make yourself available and commit yourself to my hands to take you there. There's much blessing and rewards in this, so don't let your mind and soul prevent it from taking place.

I like the way you hear from me and want to pass it on immediately to others. It shows your heart is not selfish, self-centred or self-promoting. You only want to pass on and teach others what comes from me. That's great. Keep it up. You will be distracted in this vital task, so be aware and keep focused properly.

Your work with others is taking on a new 'bent'. You are becoming more relational and more involved in the lives of others. Don't balk at this. Don't think it's a side issue, or that it will 'sideline' you. It's actually a vital component of where I'm taking you, as connections with others will be critical in your role in the future. Don't despise anyone or any connection I make for you. Just allow me to mold you and train you to work intimately and closely with others.

You're doing well in many areas. Don't give up or give in to any lack of confidence. Be confident in everything I show you, teach you and train you in. I'm confident in you, so you must be confident in yourself and where I'm taking you.

Enjoy your day with your family today and at the Family Gathering tomorrow.
