

Kind, Considerate, Generous and Loving

We've heard these words over and over again so that it's stale. We may have even ignored messages on these topics because we strongly desire to grow in our sonship and to mature spiritually. These four appear to be too childish to waste time on.

HOWEVER...If we look at them from the perspective of the Kingdom, any negative attitude towards them will change.

You see, as sons, we're to mirror Father's character (as fully as we can) to the world around us. That's part of being a "light to the world". We can't ignore these four traits or relegate them to training for the immature because being like our Father is chief among his desires for us.

Remember this: "If you've seen me, you've seen my Father"?

Here's his reminder to be like him:

"Take advantage of every opportunity that presents itself to be kind and considerate of your fellow human beings. Be generous in your attitudes towards others, and be helpful when you can. But, I say, do this from a heart that has been regenerated through My love for you. Recognize and understand My grace and great mercy. Do not forget that you are being transformed into My image."<sup>1</sup>

Notice in the reminder that we're to operate from of our heart which is to be full of his love.

Recognise also that the great grace and great mercy we continue to receive must be given to others.

And another reminder which includes unselfishness as a tool to change the atmosphere around you. This is how we function as a king:

"Trouble abounds and you can see it all around you. However, I have called you to be at peace. Do not become part of the problem but be part of the solution. You can do nothing about the masses. You can do something in your own sphere of influence through unselfishness and consideration for others. Be kind."<sup>2</sup>
