

What is Mystery Babylon?

Over the centuries, there's been a lot of discussion about what the mysterious Babylon is in the book of Revelation. It has been thought to represent the Roman Catholic Church system because of the reference to a city with 7 hills, which has been a symbol for Rome. However, all the discussion in the world won't reveal what "mystery Babylon" is, because it's a mystery, a secret, that the Trinity knows, but which Christians are ignorant of.

As the Trinity knows what Babylon represents, then that's the source we should use to get the answer. There's no other accurate source.

Actually, they've already revealed the solution to many people, even though Bible teachers around the globe continue in their conjecture. Here's the solution straight from the source which came from a visitation and accompanying vision:

"[Father] then stretched out his hand and pointed to the plains below the mountain. "Behold Babylon!" - He said.

As far as my eyes could see on the plain below, there was a mass of humanity as vast as the ocean; a churning, moving, crashing sea of humanity, milling together in deep confusion. In the midst of this sea of humanity was a large city set upon seven hills. I realized that much of the motion was from the movement of people and beasts bearing burdens in and out of the city. They were bearing these burdens back and forth from the four corners of the plain which seemed to have no end.

The city itself was sprawling and it was hard to see where it began and ended. It was built as a mass of confusion with no regular pattern to its towers and buildings. Yet all its structures were made of worthless material; shards of broken wood, hay and stubble, it reminded me of Paul's words in Corinthians about the materials men build with. As I looked more closely, I saw that the burdens carried by both beasts of burden and men were made of the same worthless materials, yet the men were hoarding and trading these 'treasures' as if they were precious...

Everything built by man on the mountainside was simply an extension of the nature of Babylon. Every structure on the plain and on the side of the mountain looked like the Babylon that Father had shown me.

Then He spoke again, "When Satan offered the nations of the world to the Son, he showed Him the Babylon you see now. Satan thought these man-made glories were a treasure the Son could not refuse. But the Son saw the work of men's flesh for what it was; wood, hay and stubble, and so has everyone who has completed the climb to the top of my Mountain. These shanties are the works of men, built by the wisdom of men, in order to make a name for themselves.""¹
