- “From 15-Minute Cities to Climate Lockdowns, the Onslaught of Digital Tyranny”
“The Digital Green Certificate, the COVID pass, that was a test balloon to get people to [have] to produce some kind of a QR code, just getting people used to that. Now, what they’re slamming us with is these 15-minute cities. Make no mistake. It’s not about your convenience,’ argues Christine Anderson. She’s a member of the European Parliament, representing the Alternative for Germany Party... Western democracies are gradually moving toward digital tyranny, she argues. The next step? Climate lockdowns. ‘Once we end up in a totalitarian regime and it’s fully blown, given the technological means they have at their disposal today, we’re not talking about 30 years of GDR [German Democratic Republic], 40 years of GDR. We’re not talking about 70 years of the Soviet Union. We’re talking about a very, very long time. That’s what you should fear,’ Anderson says.”
