

Father Says: “Love Must Rule Your Life”

Father has been teaching us for many years that he loves us deeply. For those who’ve accepted his instruction about that, and have entered into a love relationship with him, there has been a wonderful experience of being loved. Going deeper from there, many of us have joined with him by developing an intimate relationship with him where we can easily come into his presence and draw from his unconditional love.

In addition to being in an intimate relationship with him, Father has been wanting us to move deeper into oneness with him, just like Jesus of Nazareth had with him. He’s even instructed us to go further and make the man Jesus our prototype. That’s so we grow and mature even further than what’s humanly possible for the average person.

Father’s instruction now is to live in that oneness, all of the time, and operate just like Jesus did. The only difference for us will be that we’re each to be led on our own spiritual journey so we enter our own destiny.

Father has also been teaching us to not only live in his love, but to give it away as it overflows out of us. We’re not to keep his love to ourselves, because love is the main hallmark of his Kingdom. Giving away his love is how we’re meant to impact others, as well as our nation, even though we may not see visible fruit for our activities and speech.

“Live loved, love living, live loving”<sup>1</sup> is Father’s maxim for us as we live in the world today. On top of that, he recently added another layer of instructions for us to fine-tune how we live in his love. He’s instructed us to change our priority so that his love rules our lives, words, actions, and mindset. This is his message containing that instruction:

“Let all other things become supplemental to love. Love must rule your life, words, actions, and mindset. Loving must become the primary motive of your life. The deepest desire of your heart must be to know and love me first, then to pour that love out to others. Let love compel you. Let compassion lift you. Let wisdom lead you, and the enemy will never be able to trick you into guilty service. See what I’m doing and remain in sync with my Spirit, and you will never be sucked dry or step outside the healthy boundaries of love.”<sup>2</sup>

It’s important that we realise that Father wants us to grow and mature so we’re just like his Son was in the way he connected to him while on Earth as Jesus of Nazareth. He’s more interested in us being connected to him, rather than doing things for him – i.e. “being, not doing”. That means our relationship with him is the pinnacle of what our lives should aim for. The reason for that focus is that he’ll give us assignments to do when we’re intimate with him, rather than us devising our own assignments because we’re oblivious to what he really wants from us.

When his love in us rules our whole being, we’ll then become the ‘light’ which attracts others into the Kingdom. However, to be effective in that, it must be his love (not our own love) which oozes out of us to impact others.
