

Get Untethered and Focus Properly

This morning, as the Spirit prompted me to write an article on the topic of focusing properly on what really matters, the Google control of our home automation system was highlighted to me. Immediately, I had “untether” dropped into my spirit. From that I understood that we need to be untethered from the things that have control over us, in some way or other, and get out from the bondage they put us in. Remember, sons are never to be in bondage to anything they can be free of, except to be bonded to the King.

On the topic of focusing, the King recently said to us:

“I have at last got my people moving in the right direction, listening to me, working with me, and partnering with me. That’s what I wanted all along. There’s no time to ‘dilly-dally’, to waste, to spend on yourself, to spend on superfluous matters, on things that are not essential for the Kingdom. Unless we have focus together, what I want to release and am about to release, will be slow or will be held up...”

Look forward¹ to what I’m about to do. It’s coming... Focus on me. Focus on what I want. Focus on my plans. Focus on what I’ve told you, what I’ve spoken to you about personally. Let’s move into this time together”²

So, there’s our focus – the King, the Kingdom, the King’s plans and what he’s personally talked to us about. He’s been saying similar things to us for years, so his recent repetition obviously means we’re not there yet.

You see, it’s not about gaining Kingdom knowledge, as much as that’s essential, it’s about living as a son the way he wants us to. Remember, unless we are in alignment with him and his mind, we can’t be as effective in impacting the Earth as he desires us to be.

Some time around 2010, as I was on my morning walk, I had the following drop unexpectedly into my spirit:

At that time I had written a free textbook “Unmasking Evolution”³ and I was regularly lecturing at Creation Science meetings in our city. As soon as I heard that message (and there was nothing more to it), I knew I had to ‘chuck it all in’, even my thoughts of updating my textbook. From then on, my focus has been on the Kingdom, and I haven’t ‘touched’ the creation/evolution debate ever since.

The reason for the King’s instruction to change focus was for my deprogramming and reprogramming to begin. It was also for me to set my priorities straight so that my thoughts, desires and energies were properly directed towards what matters for the Kingdom. That’s because, whatever takes us away from a Kingdom focus is a distraction and needs to be eliminated, if it isn’t essential.

Essential responsibilities need to be undertaken as part of our life in the natural. That’s because we were created to live life in the natural (not just the spiritual), so it’s not wrong to live. Not fulfilling our duties, especially to family, tantamounts to dereliction of duty, as far as the Kingdom is concerned.

Our King reminded us of the need to fulfil our life responsibilities recently:

“Accept me as your beloved and set your priorities as my priorities. That doesn’t mean you don’t enjoy life. Enjoy life with me, not with me as an addition... Prepare yourself in every respect. Ready yourself, but don’t put aside the things that are your responsibilities in the natural. That’s not what I want.”⁴

It's the responsibility of each of us to assess our lives and see where our heart is. That means that we find out what fills our heart (where our desires are), as that will tell us where we're focused in life. We also need to see what's distracting us from properly focusing on Kingdom matters. For many, it's the affairs and problems of life. For many Kingdom citizens, there are other things that can be a major focus, that seem to be important, but which are a distraction. For example:

- Trump
- Planet X
- Asteroid/comet impact
- Climate change
- Politics
- Other people's prophecies
- Spiritual teaching
- The global elite
- Shadow government
- Economic collapse

HINT: Major focuses are what consumes our thoughts: What we think about; what we spend time constantly searching the internet for; and what we talk about. What we talk about is a real give-away of where our heart and focus is. Also, what we want to excitedly talk to others about when we get together, and the topic our conversations drift to.

Even the desire for Kingdom theology is a distraction, if it redirects us from Kingdom living the King's way.

For me, writing teaching documents for Kingdom living can even be a distraction, even though the Spirit has given me inspiration and a message. I have to constantly bring my focus into alignment with the Kingdom as I notice it drifting during the day.

Also, collecting material on world affairs to present at Forerunner meetings can be a distraction for me. We do need to know what's going on around us, so we're not ignorant. And, we need to be able to discuss issues knowledgeably with those outside the Kingdom. Being aware of what's going on also allows us to understand what the Spirit has us doing and saying, as his instructions are often about day-to-day living in wider society.

However, in regard to general knowledge, this is only a low level of understanding for sons. Our goal is to mature to the point where our spiritual communication is such that we are told what to do and say, and where to go, even though we may be ignorant of all the circumstances surrounding the instructions. That's where sons need to get to. It sounds 'airy fairy', but to manifest our sonship, like Jesus did, that's a necessity.
