

Interpreting Dreams

Recently I had been having disturbing dreams where I was trying to escape being detected by other people. Each one was in a different place and circumstance, but the genre was the same. The dreams reminded me of my days in high school when I was constantly bullied, so I'd often wake up from the dreams flustered and with my heart racing. After a few days of these I decided to ask my King if there was a message he was trying to convey to me through these recurring dreams. This is what he said to me:¹

“It’s not important that you follow these. They are dreams that have come from your memory, your experiences of life and also from your fears. These are not detrimental. Resist the fear of them. Rest in me. You needn’t fear anything – not one thing.

If I want to connect with you, I’ll speak to you, rather than give you disturbing dreams. You can focus on them and lose your peace, but that’s not my desire for you. You can try to interpret every dream that comes your way, but they are not all from me, contrary to what others have said.”

I immediately received this message for all sons, not just myself:

“You are my sons. I created you to be intelligent and to be able to discern what’s going on in your mind and your thoughts, and in the environment² around you.

Take charge of your life, and that includes your dreams. Don’t allow them to be a dominant factor in your understanding. Listen to my voice, open your spiritual ears and allow me to communicate with you. That’s how I want to communicate with you, the direct line, straight, person-to-person, not indirectly through signs, symbols and dreams. Sure, vision are important that I give you, but the most important communication technique that I use is direct spirit-to-Spirit. That’s why you need to practise, and clear your spiritual ears of noise, distractions and interruptions. It’s not easy, but it does come more clearly with practise and it becomes much easier over time.

Like a father talking face-to-face with his children, this is my desire – intimate face-to-face discussion, interaction and heart-felt communication. This is part of our intimacy together; it’s part of what I love to do. See to it, for your best interest, that you focus on that type of communication and pay less attention to your dreams.

It is ‘disturbing’ that many of my people put high importance on signs, symbols, events and circumstances, because it gives them encouragement and a ‘lift’. But let me tell you that that is immature. You need to grow out of it and become the sons I’ve destined you to be. It’s like a workman rising up to become a foreman or a supervisor who works very closely with the manager. This is what I want for my sons, that they lean and they grow and they develop in their sonship. They don’t stay in that low level of interaction. So be very judicious in the way you look at your dreams and the way you draw spiritual facts out them. Focus on speaking to me spirit-to-Spirit. That’s the mature way.”

Laurence

17-10-2021

www.CanberraForerunners.org

COPYRIGHT

This document is free to copy, republish and distribute, but only 'as is'. It is free to quote from at length.

All Canberra Forerunners' documents are licensed under

Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 Unported License

Quotes are the copyright of their authors.

Free graphics are from www.clker.com & free photos are from commons.wikimedia.org unless otherwise credited.

(Readers will need to look up for themselves any scriptures alluded to in this document)

1 – “Disturbing Dream Interpretation” canberraforerunners.org/wp-content/uploads/Disturbing-Dream-Interpretation.pdf

2 – i.e. The surrounding conditions