

THE TRUMPET

by BILL BURNS:

To My people. I speak to the holy ones, to the glorious ones, to the Sons of God, to those who I've called by name, to those I know by name, to those I am leading, to those I am guiding. I speak to you this day, in this season, to be ready to walk with Me. For, I will call you out upon the waters of life, if you are willing. If you are willing to walk with Me in the mountains of life. If you are willing to walk with Me on the sea. If you will be willing to walk with Me in the forest. If you will be willing to walk with Me in the green pastures, where I will give you rest. Be ready to walk with Me for I am calling your name this day to become one with Me so you can know Me even more so than you do in this moment. I desire to reveal Myself to you in this season.
