

Talk Truth; Talk Reality

Truth is relative. You only have to have a vigorous discussion with anyone who has a different opinion to you, to realize that's the case.

Palestinians have convinced the world of their truth of what they believe about Israel. However, they are blind to the fact that they've been conditioned to believe that they're refugees, when they aren't. They neglect the reality of their regional history.¹ The Arabs and Muslims came with the Byzantine caliphate empire in the period leading up to 600AD. The reality is, they are immigrants who arrived well after Israel occupied the territory in 1200BC. Palestinian truth is different to reality.

Modern young people believed they are entitled. That's their expectation, the truth they live by. However, in reality, they have rights and responsibilities only. Their truth is different to reality.

In the Christian religion, we have different denominational dogmas. These are all based on what they regard as "the truth", yet opponents disagree with their truth. In opposition to those beliefs, 'the Truth' himself is the source of all factual knowledge, not the Bible or church tenets. His knowledge is heavenly knowledge, but it covers everything factual about the spirit realm and the whole universe. He's the Creator of all things and he keeps the natural realm functioning, so it should be his knowledge that we want, and that should come directly from him.

In recent time's I've come to understand and speak on the need to know reality, not truth, because the quest for truth has become corrupted by relativity of it to the mind of the person believing it. In fact, what's true, is what's real.

With that in mind, I asked our King about truth and reality and received a message from him about it. Here's some of what I received:

"Reality is what's real. I'm real. The things of the spirit realm are real. Real is what exists, and what is and has been. It's not in the minds of men². As I am reality, I am The Truth.

If you speak what is real, you speak the truth. If you receive [and then speak]³ what I give you, you're speaking the truth that you know, because you've received what's real.*

Real relates to what is. It's not speculation, it's not theology, it's not a hypothesis, but it's what actually exists. It's actually what has been said, and what actually has been meant by what was said.

All my thoughts are reality. All my plans and purposes are reality. Everything I've spoken for a purpose and to specific people, has been a reality. Reality doesn't change – it just is, in the same way that I Am.

What's real, is what my people should be seeking, and that's always found in me. It's true that there are real things outside of me, such as those within your life experiences. But, anything else that's outside of your personal experience, needs to come from me, if it's to be absolute reality.

You already know this, because truth is relative, relative to a person's experience and relative to what they know and what they've been taught, as well as their heart attitudes.

As I don't change, I'm constant, therefore, what I say and do, is real. And, you can 'bank' on what I say and what I do to be the truth. That's not your interpretation of what I say and do, but it's what I actually say and do that's real – that's reality.

My people need to come to me to find what's real. When they find what's real, they'll find the truth – absolute truth, not relative truth. This is why they need to listen to what I say to them. They need to ask me questions and enquire of me, like this message [does].

1 – "History Behind the Region of Palestine"

2 – i.e. humanity

3 – Added so the sentence makes sense when read. The same with all other square brackets. [LDS]

I'm always wanting to give them reality. In other words, my absolute truth. So, seeking me, listening, aligning with me, and partnering with me, are all part of the reality. Just like the Kingdom is already here, and sonship is the way my people are supposed to live – that's reality.”⁴

So, it's time to speak what's real and to talk about reality, not truth.

Update

The importance of working with reality has also been stated by others. For example:

John Crowder – “Extravagant, supernatural joy is exploding as people drink the new wine of the New Covenant! Miracles, healings, prosperous lives and healthy relationships are seen as normative Christianity these days...effortless byproducts of our inheritance as sons of God. Stuff is happening. Testimonies are pouring in. The simple Gospel message is disarming religion and strife – and it is bringing supernatural change. This is really beyond a movement or revival – mankind is smelling the coffee and waking to Reality.”⁵

François Du Toit – “This will ignite your faith to fully grasp the reality of the indwelling Christ”⁶
“Paul writing from prison, but seeing himself co-seated together with Christ in heavenly places. No distraction or contradiction can reduce his life to any other reality.”⁷
“Whatever you face in your daily lives, acquaint yourselves with the greater reality. The things that are above. Do not engage the energy of the things that are below.”⁸
“If the methods of the law were only a shadow prefiguring the heavenly reality, the fulfillment of these examples surely requires a stronger and more efficacious sacrifice.”⁹
“The church continued to postpone the reality what God introduced in Christ. We are now already fully represented in his blamelessness.”¹⁰
“The outer circle is the Father, then Jesus in the Father, then us in Jesus and the Holy Spirit in us. This spells inseparable, intimate oneness. Note that it is not our knowing that positions Jesus in the Father or us in them or the Spirit of Christ in us. Our knowing simply awakens us to the reality of our redeemed oneness.”¹¹
“For us the appearing of the Messiah is no longer a future promise but a fulfilled reality.”¹²
“Their faith saw a greater reality in the spiritual realm than that which they experienced in their present situation...”¹³
“Now immediately engage your thoughts with the reality of your co-seatedness in Christ in the highest dominion of life and discover the bliss of your redeemed
