

The Fall Has Been Reversed. What Now?

The work of The Son, when he was on Earth as Jesus of Nazareth, was more than just to “save our souls”. It was bigger than that – much, much bigger than that. The extent of what he achieved has been a revelation that we’ve received from him over the past few years. Yet, it’s not something that believers are talking about, let alone teaching on it.

The work he did was to reverse the effects of The Fall. Adam had ceded his authority as the ruler of Earth to the enemy through Nachash<sup>1</sup> in Eden’s Garden. Consequently, Satan then became the legal king of the Earth, as well as the whole cosmos. The impact of that was to introduce destruction and chaos to the ‘fallen’ world, which lost its pristine condition.

Jesus, The Son, retrieved that role from Satan and he’s now the rightful King of the Earth (King of all the physical realm, as well). So, why is there still evil, chaos and destruction everywhere? The reason why things don’t appear to have changed is because of our misunderstanding of spiritual reality.

Jesus the man retrieved kingship of the Earth for us, not just to be the supreme King himself. That came about as a result of a man taking back what was originally ours, so the rulership of the Earth reverted back to us. Simply put, Earth’s rulership was lost by a man and then retrieved by a man. The spiritual implication of that is that humanity has regained governance of the planet. That’s why I keep refer to us as planet-managers.

In addition, because the spirit of Jesus of Nazareth was The Son, when he ascended as a man, he was installed as the rightful sovereign King of all creation. He won the battle and he has received the prize – the booty<sup>2</sup> he took is now all his.

What about the continuing chaos and evil in the world? Why hasn’t it stopped because he’s the King?

This is where the confusion arises, but there’s a resolution for the issue. Now that Jesus has done the work of winning back rulership of the Earth for us, his work has also reinstated us as Sons of God,<sup>3</sup> the title that Adam had.<sup>4</sup> Adam was the ruler of the planet, the one told to “have dominion” over every living thing. ‘Dominion’ means to rule over a domain, and Adam’s domain was the whole planet. Sons of God were created to rule as Father’s vice-regents, because we were made in his image and likeness. As his imagers, we are only permitted to rule the natural realm, even though we have authority in the spirit realm.

Now, this is where the problem is. We are the Sons of God, rulers of the natural realm, but we’re not ruling. The reason that we’re not ruling as vice-regents for the King is because we’re using control and manipulation to wield power our own way. That’s not how the spiritual system of the Kingdom works. Everything has to be done Father’s way (AKA the Kingdom way), which is in alignment with him and his

1 – “The most straightforward meaning is the one virtually all translators and interpreters opt for: serpent. When the Hebrew root letters n-ch-sh are a noun, that’s the meaning.

But n-ch-sh are also the consonants of a verb. If we changed the vowels to a verbal form (recall that Hebrew originally had no vowels), we would have nochesh, which means “the diviner”. Divination refers to communication with the supernatural world. A diviner in the ancient world was one who foretold omens or gave out divine information (oracles). We can see that element in the story. Eve is getting information from this being.

The consonants n-ch-sh may also form an alternative noun, nachash, which is at times used descriptively, like an adjective...

The serpent (nachash) was an image commonly used in reference to a divine throne guardian. Given the context of Eden, that helps identify the villain as a divine being. The divine adversary dispenses divine information, using it to goad Eve. He gives her an oracle (or, an omen!): You won’t really die. God knows when you eat you will be like one of the elohim. Lastly, a shining appearance conveys a divine nature. All the meanings telegraph something important.”

plans.<sup>5</sup> Outside of that, we're actually supporting the enemy, because we use his methods, not Heaven's. Remember Jesus saying, "If you're not with me, you're against me"<sup>6</sup>? Whatever we do and say must be in agreement with him and what he wants, otherwise we're working against him, and supporting the chaos and destruction of the enemy.

IMPORTANT: Make sure all that sinks in, because we've missed out on understanding and appropriating an enormous amount of what Jesus accomplished for us.

So, "What now?" is my question.

One of the most critical things that will take place is the restoration of Earth back to its edenic condition, rather than the chaotic level that it exists in at the present time. That will happen, but it will only happen when sons do it. Our King is not going to do it, and neither will Father send angels to do it. That's because a son was responsible for creation's corruption on behalf of all humanity, and so sons will have to restore it. This is why creation is really looking forward to humans operating as genuine sons,<sup>7</sup> in the level of deity that they possess,<sup>8</sup> so that transformation can be accomplished. The role to make the changes belongs to us, and the King is patiently waiting for us to get to the point where it can happen. It wasn't able to happen during the past 2,000 years or so, because we didn't have our mind and heart on the job.<sup>9</sup>

This make-over of the planet is known to many sons as 'The Restoration of All Things'.<sup>10</sup> This is what the King's agenda is right now, not church revivals.<sup>11</sup> It's not dealing with Anthropogenic Climate Change, or producing social equality, or living more sustainably – nothing at all like those. Right now, he's working towards sons manifesting who they really are so he can work with them on his plans for planetary restoration.

That's the BIG issue at this time in history. That's what we need to support by submitting to him and allowing him to change us and train us to be those planet-changers and planet-managers that we're meant to be.

To help extend our understanding, now that we know what the King's agenda is, it's vital to find out what else Jesus recovered for us?

Firstly, death has been eliminated. That, hasn't materialized for everyone who has died, so there must be an issue with that achievement, as well. I believe the issue is that we still adhere to the natural ways where everyone eventual dies of old age, or a disease, or an accident, or war. However, looking at the life of Enoch and the example of Elijah, we don't need to die. To prevent ourselves dying, we'll need to reject the idea that we have to die and live a genuine Kingdom life. However, that will take a lot retraining for it to become a reality for us.

NOTE: Some modern believers have met people who are 100's of years old, who have never died, and are still living on Earth in their physical bodies. I haven't met them, so I can't comment.

Secondly, disease is defeated. Disease and sickness actually has no hold over us, unless we submit to them.

Thirdly, nature can be spoken to. Remember Jesus telling a tree to die, and it did. He spoke to the storm and it ceased. We call those miracles, but they're meant to be normal activities for sons. Likewise, we should be able to speak things, so they happen. For example: The dead coming back to life, water turning into wine, barren women becoming fecund, unproductive ground becoming fertile and producing abundantly.

Fourthly, the laws of nature as we know them can be over-ridden. For example: walking on water, translocation, moving through the air, to name just a few.

That's a lot to take in, but it's essential that we understand things as they really are, not what we think.

To help us comprehend how we missed the above phenomenological realities, as well as many others that are available to us, read what Baxter Kruger taught on recently:

"It's right there in the first five verses of his gospel.<sup>12</sup> 'In the beginning was the word the word is face-to-face with God and the word is God. All things came into being through him.' That's Jesus. That's the Father's son. That's the word. 'Not one thing came into being apart from him.' Therefore he is the source and the meaning of human existence. He is the light of our lives. Verse 5, 'and the light shines in the darkness and the darkness doesn't understand it, can't conquer it but doesn't understand it.'"

That sets up the problem for John. It's not, 'In the beginning God created the heavens and the Earth and God is holy, and Adam and he botched it and someone has got to pay for this and straighten out this mess.' For John it is, 'We're included in this beautiful life of relationship between the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit', and we don't know it. And, not only did we not know it, we're miserable and broken and sad and overwhelmed internally, with fear and projecting into the future and self-centredness and narcissism. So he says, 'And the light shines in the darkness and the darkness doesn't understand.'"<sup>13</sup>

What Baxter has said will need to 'sink in', just like the contents of this article. That's because the impact of religion and the darkness<sup>14</sup> of our mind, prevent us from understand spiritual realities.
