

"You Are on a Journey That Will Bring Out the Best in You"

Sadly, I thought I was on a spiritual journey when I intensively studied the Bible and learnt Pentecostal and Charismatic 'things'. It wasn't until I had a revelation of the Kingdom and of my sonship that I realised that I was on a spiritual journey with Father as he trained me to be the person he wanted me to be.

That journey is still continuing for me as I give him permission train me, as I realise that I have more of my sonship to mature into. I also have a great deal of knowledge and understanding to gain about the spirit realm, and how to live in the Kingdom (i.e. Kingdom living).

In addition, Father has revealed to me (as he has to many others, I believe) that he's training us to live life in the natural in a more satisfying and impacting way. This was a revelation for me, because it came as a contradiction to the religious way I had been trained to think about life in the world.

Over time, he has been opening up to me that life is a gift from him and needs to be lived to the full, both spiritually and naturally. This fresh teaching has produced more freedom for me as I allow him to train and teach me in whatever way and area he chooses.

It was encouraging, therefore, to read what Father has released to someone else on this matter:

*"You are entering a season of preparation to do all that I have called and chosen for you to do. You are on a spiritual journey that will bring out the best in you both spiritually and naturally. You are becoming my emissary to represent me and my Kingdom in your place on the Earth," says the Lord. "Follow my lead.""*¹

So there you have it!

Father is training us spiritually, as sons, to make us the best we can be, both spiritually and naturally. The intent of that is to become all that he intends us to be, and so that we can be the best representation of him to the world we live in. That training should develop us into people that others will want to be like, because they are drawn to us and want what we have.

All this requires us to enjoy life, enjoy the processes he takes us through to change us, and to focus on our partnership with him so we are successful in our ability to live in the world. He's always there 'in our corner' working for our good, which is a HUGE plus. Here's an example:

"Refuse to get overwhelmed with your circumstances and all that you need to do. Depend on Me to stretch your time and give you the energy you need to accomplish all that is necessary. I will surround you with grace and mercy in every situation," says the Lord."²
